

OUR STORY

Everyone has once in their lifetime had that dream where they were flying, falling, floating, "swimming in the air", or however else they try to explain it when they wake up. It is precisely this curious feeling that drives NexAvian! How can we capture this dream of flying?

We are a Montreal based company founded in 2017 by aviation executives who share the dream of human flight and strive to make this dream a reality in any way imaginable. We are fully dedicated to the progression of personal flight for the purpose of both recreation and transportation.

Birdly®

OUR BIRDLY® VR FLYER

Our obsession with personal human flight starts with giving everyone a chance to physically experience a full-body flight without ever leaving the ground! We offer the most unique sensation of freely soaring the skies, just like a bird, using our immersive virtual reality flyer called Birdly®.

Come share this passion with us, flap your wings, and for the first time ever - let the avian spirit in you fly!

With today's virtual reality software, coupled with robotics and simulation technology, the Birdly® truly delivers an experience like never before!

HOST AN UNFORGETTABLE EVENT WITH THE BIRDLY® TODAY!

The Birdly® simulator is a sure hit at your next event! Our setup has a large panel display which always draws a crowd and spectators have a blast, posting videos and photos to social media!

We offer full day rentals including transportation and a Birdly® technician who will take care of the setup and operations for the entire duration of your event. Great for all types of occasions and clients.
